MATCH SUMMARY

Thun wins in Lausanne in a nine-goal match. Mambwa disputes a sequence of 47 minutes at the left side. Its personal record combines ball initiatives and great difficulties in defensive confrontations.

PLAYER SUMMARY MATCH

Mambwa succeeds in the two identified dribbling and performs several progressive races. He therefore manages to create advances with the ball at his feet in this sequence. The continuation of his possessions is less convincing: his passes only lead to one time out of two and the losses are numerous. He loses all the defensive duels recorded, which is the main reserve of his match. He nevertheless participates in recoveries and cuts two transmissions. He wins his only aerial duel, but this volume does not allow us to conclude a mastery in the air. His yellow card and the faults committed complete a balance sheet that requires more control.

STRENGTHS OBSERVED

- Succeed in the two attempted dribbling.
- Advance the ball through several progressive races.
- Cut transmissions and participate in recovery.

AXES OF PROGRESS

- Gain efficiency in defensive confrontations.
- Make passes and reduce lost possessions.
- Better control of your interventions to limit faults.

MATCH SUMMARY

Thun loses a goal against Hajduk Split in the Conference League. Mambwa plays 96 minutes as left side. He brings by the dribbling, but his precision in the centers and his defensive performance remain insufficient on this meeting.

PLAYER SUMMARY MATCH

Mambwa succeeds in his seven dribbling attempts and wins the majority of his offensive confrontations. Several progressive races extend this ball to the foot. It also participates in traffic, with a majority of successful passes and successful long transmissions. This activity does not lead to a specific center or a direct contribution to the score. The defensive balance sheet is less favorable: it only wins a minority of its duels in this register and loses the air duel recorded. He recovers and intercepts balls, but the losses, including several in his camp, reduce the reliability of his match. Mistakes committed also call for more mastery in his interventions.

STRENGTHS OBSERVED

- Create differences by dribbling.
- Win a majority of offensive duels.
- Progress with the ball at the foot and succeed in the long passes attempted.

AXES OF PROGRESS

- Improve the efficiency of defensive confrontations.
- Give a more precise outcome to the centres.
- Reduce losses in his camp and faults.

MATCH SUMMARY

Thun loses to Twente with a score of a goal to zero. mambwa dispute 83 minutes, with lateral and left piston positions filled in. His participation in the pass is reduced and his confrontations are the main weak point in his sequence.

PLAYER SUMMARY MATCH

Mambwa provides a majority of the few passes he tries. This precision must be replaced in a very low volume of transmissions for its playing time. It does not pass either of the two identified dribbling and does not produce a center. His record in the duels is unfavorable, both in defensive confrontations and in offensives. It nevertheless contributes to several recoveries and performs an interception. The majority of its losses occur in its own camp, which calls for more security in conservation. The recorded events do not show any contribution close to the opposing goal on this meeting.

STRENGTHS OBSERVED

- ensure most of the transmissions attempted.
- Participate in several recoveries.
- Cut a transmission by an interception.

AXES OF PROGRESS

- Be more effective in ground duels.
- better protect the ball in its own camp.
- Give more continuity to his participation with the ball.

MATCH SUMMARY

Thun wins in Vaduz. mambwa dispute 28 minutes, as lateral or left piston depending on the positions entered. The volume of shares remains reduced, with recoveries and a pass preceding a shot among the useful contributions.

PLAYER SUMMARY MATCH

Mambwa plays little in the exchanges with his partners on this sequence. The only pass classified in the total transmissions does not succeed. However, the file records a pass preceding a shot, in a separate category which alone does not allow the circulation of the ball to be reconstituted. He succeeded in his dribbling and his defensive duel, on a very small volume. Recoveries and interceptions are his other contributions. He does not make a center and does not attempt to shoot. This short use calls for confirmation over a longer period of time before judging its continuity.

STRENGTHS OBSERVED

- Succeed in the identified dribbling.
- Participate in recovery and interception.
- Win the recorded defensive duel.

AXES OF PROGRESS

- Confirm his participation over a longer playing time.
- better establish the continuity of transmissions.
- Repeat useful contributions beyond a few actions.

MATCH SUMMARY

Thun lost at home to Servette. Mambwa plays 32 minutes as left side. Its sequence includes precise transmissions and recoveries, with a more difficult balance in ground confrontations.

PLAYER SUMMARY MATCH

Mambwa manages the majority of his passes and the attempted center reaches a partner. A pass preceding a shot is also in its balance sheet. He therefore makes some useful contributions in construction and in aisle situations. He recovers several balloons, most of them in the opposing camp. However, its duel efficiency remains insufficient: it loses the majority of defensive confrontations and does not win any offensive duel. The only aerial duel is won, but is not enough to establish a trend. Several loss of possession finally recalls the need to better secure its actions.

STRENGTHS OBSERVED

- ensure a majority of precise transmissions.
- Find a partner with the attempted center.
- Collect several balls in the opposing camp.

AXES OF PROGRESS

- Improve defensive confrontations on the ground.
- Better prolong the offensive duel situations.
- Reduce lost possessions.

Player Summary Evaluation Orientation

01 PLAYER SUMMARY

Olivier Mambwa is a left-handed left-handed from 17 years, also usable as a piston. He is loaned to FC Thun by Young Boys for the season 2026-2027. Its large size and the acceleration and speed marks of the external base give interest in its corridor profile. Its complete history shows activity to recovery and an ability to progress with the ball at the foot. His best recent sequences feature successful dribbling, progressive races and useful centers. The accuracy of the last pass, however, remains uneven from one encounter to another. The main point of vigilance concerns defensive reliability at the senior level. The performance in the duels is less favorable in recent meetings than in the whole history, largely composed of youth competitions. The losses in his own camp and the continuity of his transmissions must also progress. He deserves a development follow-up for the left corridor. We want to see him maintain the projection qualities while making his game safer, with and without ball.

05 SUMMARY OF THE CELL'S DECISION-MAKING

Current level — A lateral in high-level apprenticeship in Switzerland

Mambwa is a left-handed left-handed 17 years, also usable as a piston. He gradually discovers the demands of senior football and is evolving this season on loan at FC Thun. His career at Young Boys and in the selections of young Swiss gives context to his development, but his current level must above all be appreciated from what he manages to reproduce in the face of seniors.

His first interest comes from his corridor profile. He has a size of 187 CM and external attributes describe interesting acceleration and speed qualities. The recorded matches show that he can advance the ball by running and dribbling. On some recent sequences, he manages to overtake his opponent and extend the progression in the left lane.

However, the offensive contribution remains irregular. He can find partners in centers and participate in shooting situations, as in several September meetings. At other times, the accuracy of the center disappears or its participation in traffic becomes very low. His ability to create a first advantage is therefore more advanced than his ability to systematically give him a useful follow-up.

He also participates in recovery and interception. These contributions are present throughout the history and show that it is not limited to actions with the ball. It is nevertheless necessary to distinguish this activity from reliability in the defensive duel. The confrontations against recent seniors are more difficult than in the youth competitions that make up a large part of the file.

The main reserve concerns precisely the protection of its corridor. Several recent meetings have an unfavorable performance in defensive duels. The losses in his own camp add another difficulty: he must better secure his first actions and limit situations where poorly controlled possession puts his team under pressure. The statistics do not allow each loss to be attributed to a specific choice; The corresponding sequences should be reviewed.

We are now retaining a young lateral with real support points, but still in Super League learning. His best offensive contributions make the profile interesting. They are not yet enough to consider him as a reliable and complete player in this division. The priority remains the repetition of safer performances, especially when he is directly opposed to his opponent.

Potential level — an interesting margin for the left corridor

Mambwa's potential is higher than its current level in individual file references. His age, his athletic base, his left foot and the possibilities of progression given interest in a projection of a lateral or piston. Career estimation remains a projection of development; It does not describe a level already reached or a guaranteed progression.

The qualities to progress are quite clearly identifiable. He already has the means to advance ball to the foot and bring to corridor situations. The goal now is to make these actions more useful and consistent. Accuracy After the first shift, the choice between the center and the pass, as well as the ability to secure possession must take up more space in his game.

Defensive development will be decisive for its trajectory. He must become more effective in opposition to the ground and better master situations where his opponent directly requests him. Its size and the relaxation mark alone do not constitute a guarantee in the air: the results of senior air confrontations remain to be consolidated on a larger volume.

The versatility provided in the external database is limited. It therefore seems preferable to build its development around the left, with precise expectations for the role of lateral and that of piston. The gap between his two feet also asks to check what he can do when an opponent prevents him from using his strong foot. We do not give him ease in other positions that would not be demonstrated.

Training at Young Boys, meetings for young people in selection and his first senior experiences are useful steps. The loan to Thun offers him a context to continue this progression. The main question is whether he can transform his training qualities into regular contributions at this level, rather than simply accumulating appearances.

We therefore maintain an interesting projection for the left lane, provided that defensive reliability and ball control progress. It is too early to name a specific final championship or to say that it will become excellent at a higher level. The potential needs to be reviewed as senior performance becomes more numerous and stable.

mentality and behavior

Fair play and temperament are rather favorable, with weak controversy. We therefore do not retain, in this source, a major negative signal for collective behavior. However, these notes should not be transformed into certainty about his conduct in a locker room. The opinion of the management and the observation of his reactions to training remain necessary to confirm this reading.

Regularity and important matches are more intermediate. This corresponds to a follow-up priority: checking its ability to keep the same decision quality and the same performance when the opposition becomes stronger or when the meeting is less favorable to it. Its adaptation and loyalty are usable benchmarks, without being sufficient to conclude that it is easy to integrate in all environments.

Match events complete the analysis on observable dimensions. The ball-to-toe initiatives show that he is trying to advance the game; Losses in his camp, fouls and defensive yield variations require more control. These elements prove neither his ambition nor his daily investment. They are used to target situations where he must gain consistency.

We consider personality as a rather favorable element of the file. The point to be confirmed remains the way in which this base is translated into the repetition of performances and in the reaction to difficulties.

Conclusion and final opinion of the unit

Mambwa has a left side profile to follow for his development. His left foot, his size and his ability to progress with the ball at the foot give interest in the file. He is already able to produce differences in the hallway and occasionally bring a pass or a useful center.

The main reserve concerns its current reliability against seniors. He must win more defensive confrontations, better keep the ball in his camp and make his last gesture more constant. It is important to keep this appreciation separate from its good benchmarks in the categories of young people: the demands and the adversaries are not the same.

Cell opinion: targeted development follow-up for the left lane.

We want to see him again on a series of senior meetings long enough to appreciate the holding of his role. It will be necessary to examine the quality of direct confrontations, the security of possessions under pressure and the repetition of its offensive contributions. Versatility and the right foot should remain verification points, without assigning other roles to it by default.

The ambition and professionalism of the external reference reinforce the interest of the follow-up. However, recruitment must remain linked to a project capable of giving it a progression framework, as well as its contractual situation with Young Boys. As it stands, we favor confirmation of its progress in Thun before recommending a signature for a role immediately established at the higher level.

THREE STRENGTHS

+ Create differences from the left lane by dribbling and ball progression.
+ Bring useful centers and passes on its best sequences.
+ Participate in recovery and interception throughout its history.

THREE POINTS FOR IMPROVEMENT

− Improve the reliability of defensive confrontations at the senior level.
− Better protect the ball and reduce losses in its own camp.
− Make the transmissions and the quality of the last gesture more constant.
